

THE S. KENT BROWN FAMILY

Hi! I'm Scott. . . the one at the bottom of the picture. My dad asked me to tell you a few things about our family for the Travel Study Brochure.

My dad is a lot older than I am. He says that he attended a lot of different universities, including B.Y.U. He went to Berkeley during the days of the student riots and learned to read funny things like Greek and Hebrew. After that he went to graduate school at Brown University before I was even born. (He even gets excited still about Brown's football team that took second in the Ivy League this last year.) He has gone two times to Egypt to do archaeological work and says that this time I can go to Egypt with him on the airplane. He used to be Branch President of the B.Y.U. 37th Branch. In fact, after I was born he gave me a father's blessing while there. Now he works in Mutual and plays basketball with the Priests. . . on activity nights.

My mother's name is Gayle. She's a lot older than I am, too. She grew up in Salt Lake City where my grandma and grandpa still live. She gets excited about things like ballet because she danced in Ballet West when she was going to the University of Utah. She says that she taught school for six years in Utah and California, but I don't remember it. She married my dad in 1966 and they have been together ever since.

My oldest sister is Karilynne, the one on the left of the picture. She has all kinds of neat things like curling irons and jewelry. She is in the fifth grade and doesn't want to leave all of her friends behind for a whole year and a half. It might be all right, though, if she can escape practicing the piano for some of that time.

My next sister is Julianne, the one opposite Karilynne in the picture. She always helps me more than anyone else. I think that she will be happy to get out of piano practicing for a while too. She is eight years old and was baptized last summer. A lot of my relatives came for that.

Heather is the middle child in our family. She will just have turned seven when we go to the Middle East. She has been learning to read and gets mad at me when I mess up her coloring books and school work. She likes her stuffed lion better than anything else in the world.

Shoshauna is my best friend in our family. She just turned five and doesn't have to take naps anymore (but I do, sometimes). She plays house all the time and even uses our cats as babies. She and I sleep in the same set of bunkbeds at home. She might get to go to kindergarten when we live in Cairo.

My name is Scott and I was named after my dad and my grandfather I have wanted to go to Egypt on an airplane for a long time. And I finally get to. (My dad goes on planes all the time but never takes me.) I lost my two front teeth before I was two. My favorite thing to do is play with my friends in the field with my football helmet on. Of course, I hope to get to know everyone who will be going with us. That reminds me, my grandma will be going with us to Israel. Hooray!
